WHERE BUSINESS OF HONOLULU'S WATERFRONT IS MOST ACTIVE

THE RAILWAY WHARVES-THE BUSIEST PORTION OF HONOLULU'S HARBOR.

IT were not for the large wharves and modern facilities for handling freight at the Railway docks, at the Ewa end of the harbor, shipping in this port would have been tied up for the past month or two.

May and June have been the two busiest months, so far, of the present year. Versels have been coming into the harbor in bunches of three, four. five, six and even seven. A large number of these have been coal vessels na bramilla filadilla a li si si si si si si from New South Wales

Outside of the Railway wharves the accommodations of the harbor are small compared with the shipping. Of the vessels now in the harbor, oue-third are at the Railway wharves, engaged in discharging coal and general merchandise, and in taking on sugar.

Almost another third of the ships in port are at anchor in the stream, awaiting turns at the various berths, so that actually, very nearly half of the vessels at present engaged in handling cargoes are accommodated at the Ewa end of the harbor, at the wharves of the Oahu Railway and Land Com-It can be readily seen, therefore, what the condition would be in the event of the Railway wharves not existing. It would mean that there would be twice as many ships lying in the stream as at the docks.

Wonderful improvements have been made at this busy end of the waterfront. Nor is the good work allowed to stand still. The big slips are not yet deep enough or long enough to accommodate all the ships which would flock to that end of the harbor were conditions such that they could be handled there.

The railway company has great plans in view, and these plans will very soon be carried out; in fact, are being carried out from day to day.

When the Territorial government gets to work on its land on the Ewa side of the old Fishmarket wharf, near the mouth of the Nuuanu stream, and dredges out that portion of the waterfront, putting in the contemplated wharves, so that large vessels will be able to dock right at the mouth of the stream, the harbor will be in a condition to handle all the shipping which comes here. The combined works of the railway and the government. which comes here. The combined works of the railway and the government, when completed, and the railway is setting a most excellent example, will make the Ewa end of the harbor the business end as far as the handling of cargoes of sailing vessels and big freight steamships is concerned. Then will the Waikiki end of the front be almost entirely used, outside of the navy sharves, for the docking of the great trans-Pacific passenger steamships.

Captain Parker, a dredger, is about to return from San Francisco to dredge out the Ewa end of the harbor again for the railway company. The debris is all to be pumped across King street for the purpose of filling in the great depression on Winam's premises and other places in the vicinity. People whose business takes them in the neighborhood are well acquainted with the unpleasant ponds and ugly holes just mauka of King street, near the Nuuanu stream. These will all be remedied as the railway slips are decembed and lengthened.

To any one passing through Henolulu on a visit, the wharves of the railway are well worth an inspection. Things are always busy there. Vessels are being loaded by electric apparatus with thousands of bags of sugar every day. Great general cargoes are being hurried out of the holds of ships from the Coast to make room for the sugar which is continually being piled beneath the large new sheds on the wharves, and long lines of cars are ever being taken from alongside vessels from Newcastle, laden with coal, to be shipped down the railway line, or dumped on the big piles in the yards of company.

At the present time there are eleven vessels working cargoes at the Reil-way wharves.

The big American ship Charles E. Moody is just finishing discharging coal, and is almost ready to get away.

The British bark Battle Abbey, the American bark Charles B. Kenney, the American bark General Fairchild, and the American ship Florence, are all discharging coal.

The Italian bark Emilia Ciampa is unloading nitrates, and the American bark Alden Besse, the American bark Andrew Weich, the American bark Mohican, and the American barkentine Planter, are all taking on sugar for San Francisco. The American barkentine George C. Perkins is unloading

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company leases the Railway wharves for the use of its great freighters. The above picture was taken when the steamship Hawaiian was at one of the Railway wharves. The illustration furnishes a good idea of the business done at the Ewa end of the waterfront.

A Bad Skin The Bank of Hawaii

Boils. Pimples. Impure Blood.

Boils are simply very large pimples. The trouble is not in the skin, but down deep in the blood. You cannot have a good, smooth skin unless it is nourished by pure blood; and the only way to make your blood pure is to take a strong blood-purifying medicine.

Mr. F. Ellian, of 370 Rae Street, North Fitzroy, Victoria, sends us this letter and his photograph.

"I had a most frightful attack of boils and pimples breaking out all over my body. I had heard so much about
